Gavan

I have had the cell running in my car for a couple of weeks now and have made some minor adjustments to the sensors. It seems at this stage that I have had a 50% reduction in fuel usage.

Not bad at all. I am getting a slight electrical smell from the new pump you sent me but at this stage it is working fine.

Did you still want me to do some costings for the manufacture of the cells? If so, could you send me some drawings and I will get them quoted for you.

Regards
